1. Electronic Store Website

The Electronic Store Website provides a clear and user-friendly way to explore electronic products, view product details, compare specifications, and add items to a cart. Its product categories, pricing, discounts, and comparison section help users make informed choices. This activity demonstrates how a well-organized interface can improve product discovery and the online shopping experience.

2. Online Food Ordering Website

The Online Food Ordering Website presents food categories, restaurant options, menu items, prices, ratings, and add-to-cart controls in an accessible layout. These features help customers browse meals and select items conveniently. The activity demonstrates the importance of visual presentation, clear menu information, and a simple ordering flow in a food delivery interface.

3. Bus and Train Ticket Booking Interface

The Bus and Train Ticket Booking Interface allows users to choose a travel mode, enter origin and destination details, select a journey date and passenger count, and review available services and fares. The passenger-details and seat-selection sections illustrate the main stages of a booking process. This activity highlights how structured forms and clear fare summaries can make travel planning easier and more understandable.
